New Section for “grizzly bear educators”
Grizzly Bear Educators

Published on Thursday, 19 February 2015 14:35 | Written by IGBC Executive Committee

What is a grizzly bear educator?

Anyone who instructs people of any age about grizzly bears — what they look like, how to hike or hunt in their habitat, or how their subpopulations are changing. There’s a lot to know about grizzly bears and the IGBC wants to provide instructors with facts and tools they need.

IGBC Information and Education Grants

Published on Thursday, 19 February 2015 13:27 | Written by IGBC Executive Committee

The IGBC has awarded $36,000 each year since 2007 to the five grizzly bear recovery ecosystems to fund Information and Education (I&E) projects that promote grizzly bear habitat and recovery. Descriptions of the five grizzly bear ecosystems can be found here.

FAQs about annual IGBC Information and Education Grants

Who is eligible to apply?
Organizations and government agencies within the five grizzly bear ecosystems may apply, however it is highly recommended that these entities begin the application process by contacting the state and federal agency information, education and public relations staff before proceeding.
